MADRIX EQUESTRIAN

Event Information Pack

A welcoming space to celebrate your partnership, guided by Communication, Connection and Confidence.

Stay informed

Riders, handlers and trainers should keep an eye on the Madrix Equestrian website and social media for scheduled events, entry details and event-specific requirements. Most events take place online. From time to time, Madrix will also host events at selected venues.

Welfare and event rules

All events are governed by the Madrix Equestrian Horse Welfare Charter and the seven pillars of Madrix Equestrian. Participants must read and follow these, together with the published requirements for their chosen event.

No whips. No spurs. No bits.

These requirements apply to all Madrix Equestrian events. Horse welfare, fair handling and a respectful partnership must guide every entry.

Entries, payment and video submission

Entry fees are payable when the entry is submitted. For online events, the required video must be submitted at the same time. Check the event listing for the entry fee, closing date, video instructions and submission method.

Accurate and truthful information

All information supplied must be accurate and true, including participant and horse details, the class entered and the delivery address. Videos must truthfully represent the combination entered and comply with the published event requirements.

Judging and results

Judging can take up to seven working days. Occasionally, it may take longer; any delay will be communicated to participants. You will be contacted privately with your results before they are published on social media.

Rosettes and delivery

Rosettes are the main prizes. Rosettes awarded will be couriered to the address supplied by the participant. Please provide a complete, accurate delivery address and contact number, and notify Madrix promptly of any corrections.

Sponsors and additional prizes

Sponsors are welcome to contact Madrix Equestrian about contributing prizes or cash prizes. Any additional sponsored prizes will be announced for the relevant event.